Racial relations meet set

By BOB WILLIAMS
Staff Writer

BYU President Brial Walton issued yesterday that a letter to all Student Body Presidents and Editors was mailed, inviting them to BYU for Oct. 15 conference on race relations at WAC schools.

They were also invited to bring along a student of their choice—possibly a student affiliated with a Black Union or Black Student Alliance.

WALTON CALLED the conference in advance with a resolution passed by the Student Body Presidents in June which expressed a hope that this year would produce some meaningful dialogue aimed at understanding the current controversy at BYU, the LDS Church, and students on the campuses of the schools.

"We are aware that mistrust and deceit is rampant in the world and we are aware we are not perceived by some as we selves would like to be perceived. We are sincere in hoping that this conference will allow you the opportunity to be at home acting in the way we play in our everyday affairs," Walton said in the letter.

IMMEDIATELY after the June 1970 meeting, Walton reported that "The consensus was formed that the basic, though not the only, problem was the Church's doctrine with regard to the blacks and the priesthood."

He added, "They consequently feel the influence of the doctrine of the church is enough (for us) to shy away from contact with blacks whom they feel as inferior."

In the letter, Walton invited the students and editors to attend any of the noon church wards on campus that should choose, if any, and "at first gain experience of Mormons in a non setting."

Lines and heads were about all that most students could see as the first day of school began. Not only was the bookstore jammed but so were entrances and exits to all buildings everywhere. Attendance is only slightly over 24,000 students this semester.

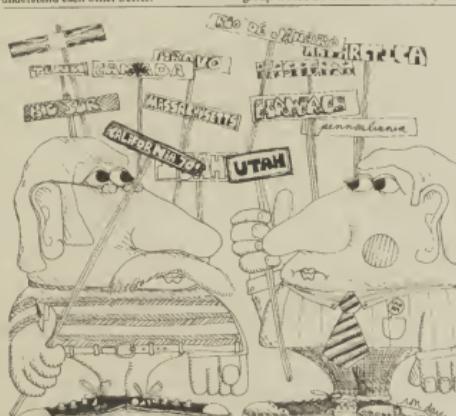

WALTON SAID he had high hopes for the success of the meeting but noted that in any such gathering there is always the possibility of failure. Indeed, in the letter Walton wrote, "We approach this conference with mixed emotions and with a great deal of caution trying to obtain the necessary combination of sincerity and advocacy."

In an optimistic note during the interview, he mentioned that a visit to BYU last year of three or four students from CSU was successful and helped both BYU students and the CSU students to understand each other better.

"WE DO HAVE problems," stated Walton, "we don't relate to Blacks and we don't understand them."

Walton's announcement came at about the same time as an announcement by University of Arizona Student Body President Bruce Eggers, that a student-faculty fact finding committee from his school would be sent to BYU the first week in October to determine the racial situation here.

Walton had no comment upon Eggers' announcement other than to say that the group would be welcome at BYU anytime.

Welcome back assembly

From coast to coast and around the world, students will be gathered in the Fieldhouse for this morning's assembly at 10 a.m. Students should sit in their areas.

Possible visit proposed by UofA group

At averting possible demonstrations at the University of Arizona-BYU football game October 10 in Tucson, the U. of A. may send a student-faculty fact finding committee to BYU the first of next month.

"We would like to learn of the facts revolving around BYU and the Mormon Church," Bruce Eggers, U. of A. student body president explained to the Daily Wildcat yesterday.

The Church's alleged racial discriminatory practices triggered clashes between demonstrators and police at a BYU-Arizona basketball game last January.

He said the committee would likely arrive on campus October 1 for a two day visit, pending coordination of plans with BYU.

Dr. Heber Wolsey, Assistant to the President for University Relations at BYU, confirmed he had been contacted by the University of Arizona and was "in the process of working out details."

"We're very much in favor of having other students from other universities come here," added Wolsey.

Eggers disclosed that he had been working with the student president of the LDS Institute in Tucson concerning the visit.

He said among delegates who may journey to BYU are two black students, one administration official, two student body officers, one faculty member, the LDS Institute student president and a reporter for the Arizona DAILY WILDCAT.

"We would like to talk to as many students as we can," said Eggers. "We would like to talk to black students on campus, representatives of the university and athletic department and several Church officials."

"I hope we can present a fair judgement of the issue itself upon returning and avoid the rhetoric and emotions," he continued. "I hope we can recommend that course of action which will be of the best interest of all concerned."

Eggers confirmed, however, that there were rumors of "plans being made by some anti-BYU groups to protest the game."

"It's a Small, Small World," "Let There Be Peace on Earth," "Rise and Shout," and a repertoire of state songs will comprise the music for today's Welcome Back Assembly at 7:30 a.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

The traditional first assembly of the school year, according to the Culture Office, is designed to let the students "introduce themselves with speeches, cheering competitions involving sections of the United States and foreign countries. Students are usually asked to sit with their state or country."

"It's a chance to let down and have a lot of fun and get back into the swing of BYU," says Russ Wood, vice-president of the Culture Office. "We'll be building the world of BYU through the staging and narration of the assembly."

Participating on the stage decorated with flags and state signs will be members of Student Council, Elliot Cameron, the student officers, pep groups, Cosmo, the Cougar Band and the International Students. Narration will be by Russ Wood.

The "Welcome Back" Assembly is usually the most well-attended assembly of the year.

William E. Berrett recently released as Seminaries, Institutes Associate Commissioner.

Walton questions rulings

ASBYU President Brian Walton told the Daily Universe yesterday that he is very concerned about the way dress standards were enforced during registration. Walton made the comments after an article appeared in yesterday's Salt Lake Tribune about dress standards enforcement.

The Tribune article quoted one student body officer as saying, "They were pulling girls off the floor for more than two inches above the knee." Walton noted that he had heard several complaints from students who felt they were being treated disrespectfully.

He stated that he intended to call a meeting of the ASBYU Executive Council and discuss with them whether or not they should "make some kind of proposal" about enforcement of dress standards.

Walton has been concerned about the matter since the second day of registration but said that he is not sure whether dress standards are worth making a fuss over.

"As I pointed out to President Wilkinson last May, I regard modesty as a virtue. My concern is that it loses worth in inverse proportion to its absorption in standards of forced conformity," emphasized Walton.

Old Glory Flies High

More Americans are displaying the Stars and Stripes

Joseph Crane, an official of American Flag Jersey Company which makes flags, said that they had projected a sales increase for 1970 of 10 to 15 per cent, but right now sales are up about 30 per cent.

Two other makers estimate a 70 per cent increase over last year, while Woolworth's national flag buyer claims current demand for American flags is greater than during World War II.

The release of BYU professor William E. Berrett as Associate Commissioner of Education for Seminaries and Institutes of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has been announced by the First Presidency.

Berrett will be succeeded by Joe E. Christensen, current president of the Mexico LDS Mission and former coordinator of seminaries and institutes for Salt Lake County. He has also been director of institutes in Pullman, Wash., Moscow, Idaho, and at the University of Utah.

The First Presidency has also announced the appointment of Bishop Talmage A. Call of the BYU 85th Ward to be the new president of the Mexico Mission with headquarters in Mexico City. Bishop Call will be replaced in the 85th Ward by Ivan T. Call, chairman of the Department of Business Management.

Elder Berrett, who has served in his capacity over the Church since his call as a professor June of 1953, will begin a sabbatical leave during the last half of this school year and return to BYU next year as a professor of religion.

The program, under Berrett's direction, has expanded to include every state in the Union and 14 foreign countries. Prior to his administration, the Seminaries and Institutes complex reached only through the United States and Canada.

Berrett, who in his capacity has traveled to each of the 14 participating foreign nations, has

Joe E. Christensen appointed new Associate Commissioner, seen the institutes program spread to a total of 240 colleges and universities.

In summing up the extent of major changes which have occurred during his administration, Berrett said, "All of the fringe benefits that have been had by university professors are now had by seminary teachers and institute instructors in the excellent Home Study program which has been initiated in the British Isles, New Zealand and Australia. The familiar early morning seminary classes have come as a result of Elder Berrett's efforts to extend the program beyond the states of Utah, Idaho, Arizona and Wyoming, where some schools also offer seminary classes during regular school hours.

Elder Berrett will continue to assist his successor in matters of property and business.

Concerning the release of Elder Berrett, newly appointed Church Commissioner of Education Neal A. Maxwell pointed out that Berrett has had a remarkable career in the Church Education spanning four decades.

"He has presided over the seminary and institute programs during the period of their greatest expansion and during the period of their internationalization. He has a rare combination of dedication and perception. All of the church education system commands the highest respect of this vital program. He is also an excellent writer and teacher and those skills will not be lost to the Church in the years ahead," Commissioner Maxwell said.

Christensen, the new Associate Commissioner, will assume his new duties on September 23 when he joins the Mexico Mission over to President Call, according to Maxwell.

A native of Idaho, Christensen has been serving for the past three months as mission president. He graduated from BYU in 1953 with a B.A. degree and obtained his Ph.D. degree in education from Washington State University in 1960. He formerly taught in schools in Provo and Salt Lake City and was an instructor in the BYU Division of Religion in 1956-57.

"The appointment of Elder Christensen as Associate Commissioner reflects the increasing importance we are attaching to the seminary and institute programs of the Bishop Talmage A. Call appointed president of Mexico Mission.

Church," Commissioner Maxwell said. "Elder Christensen uniquely qualified in terms of his experience and background work with the thousands of dedicated faculty and the 175,000 students in our Church seminaries and institutes. I am grateful to the First Presidency and the Council of the Twelve in making his services available to us."

The new mission leader President Call, is returning to the area where he served from 1950 to 1953 as a missionary. Part of that time he served as a district president. He was born in Colon, Chihuahua, Mexico.

A young business man, Call has taught two business classes at BYU on a part-time basis, and is prominent in Provo civic affairs.

Information free for dialing

The Spanish verb "to pray" and the location of cute freshmen girls are not the specialties of the BYU Information Service.

Names, addresses and phone numbers for the BYU on Monday and Thursday morning this information about fall semester students will be available, according to Miracle Birch, secretary to Director of Information Services, Gary Bascom. "That is," she adds, "if the computer doesn't get sick."

Numbers to remember is 374-8322. The operator will be four lines and two to four words ready to thumb through the sheets for an address or number. Service will slow down to only a couple of lines at the end of October when the student directory is published, but more information may be available about students, such as ward, class or gender.

And students aren't sill. Information Service will also be able to offer extension numbers of faculty members and offices that are usually reached by dialing 374-1211 and asking for the extension.

Though the service does hope to limit itself to fielding questions about phone numbers and addresses, the operators have been known to tackle anything. Mrs. Birch, herself a former operator, admits that they rarely refuse to answer a question if they can only find the answer quickly.

The student curious about the Spanish verb did get his answer from Mrs. Birch because the operator next to her knew the language. However, the "lonely freshman" looking for a date was at a disadvantage because Mrs. Birch was a senior at the time.

The girls read the Daily Universe and clip out "anything that says 'come'" to better inform interested students. But, the experts about BYU activities are a recording at the end of 375-3311 that the students can consult.

Two girls in a small room are unable to handle emergencies alone either. For fastest service, Mrs. Birch recommends a call to Security, ext. 2751.

A few tips to remember are to have a pencil and paper handy, to dial the operator at any time, to call at times other than 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. in the evening, and to be patient. If corrections need to be made, a quick call to Information will serve to rectify it.

As bubbles cascade

Cooler soap 'snows' students

By DALE VAN ATTA
Staff Writer

"I would say the soap bubbles presented from the top of the Wilkinson Center contain some form of cholinesterase inhibitor, classically known as nerve gas."

"The purpose?" Well, it's a Panther plot to eliminate enough students so that those 2,000 freshmen turned away for B-averages can enroll in the university."

This was a zoology major's answer to the frequent chemical phenomena which causes thousands of soap bubbles to be released from atop the Wilkinson Center.

Hoping to obtain an explanation for this occurrence, a Universe reporter questioned several students.

Many students doubted the validity of such a bubble plot and the honesty of the interviewer. One went as far as to suggest it was a Universe-manufactured "crazy" story.

Many of the female gender walked away in obvious haste mumbling "what boys will do . . ." when the reporter failed to display any press credentials.

One California girl refused to get involved and shook her head protesting, "I don't know anything about anything."

A few had seen the bubbles, though. And of those who had, there were a variety of causes suggested.

"Perhaps it's advertising for some Lawrence Welk type show planned for the Frohs," ventured one.

A political science major attributed these attention-getting objects as propaganda sent out by the Banyan to promote their sales.

How he connected these free-falling blumps which fade in seconds to a yearbook which "lasts forever" is a question which still puzzles Banyan Editor Scott Duncan. Duncan only sighed and said he "wished all students would see them that way."

On a more symbolic and political level, a young girl from Utah stated that they were "sent by the Lord to cleanse the earth."

Perhaps her male counterpart, another student suggested it was coming from the "clean minds" which are "known to frequent the BYU campus."

Deciding that a plausible answer had yet to present itself, this reporter tried checking with a more reliable and informed source. But the Information desk had not seen these macroscopic UFO's before.

When asked why the police would know about this spatial phenomenon, he quickly replied, "We've been called many times by other students."

However chemically correct the explanation for the cause may be, the end result is that it spreads a lot of good cheer.

Overstuffing classes causes text drought

By DARYL GIBSON

Thursday, By the time I get my books, the classes will be one fourth over."

Paula Woodland, a junior from South Carolina, was pessimistic about the two books that she lacked. "I'll wait till they come in, I guess."

"They've got signs up that the books are on order," said Spencer Ashby with that knowing smile of a seasoned book-buyer. "But I never did get what I needed last year. I had to go down town to get it."

Marily Napoli from Tremonton, Utah, and James Madsen of New Mexico, were not encouraged by a response from bookstore clerks about the availability of their religion syllabus. "hey didn't know when they would be in."

One passing student offered this possible cause for the shortage. "One teacher told me that two teachers had ordered a book and four teachers decided to use it!"

As a result, many students find themselves taking those hard-earned classes, without any texts.

The problem arises every year, said Arnett. "But, the situation is better this year than any year before."

Arnett explained the reason that the shortage of texts frequently confronts students. The demand to register in classes already closed pressure the instructor into either opening a new section or allowing the student to remain and had planned on to enter the existing sections.

Consequently, commented Arnett, half the textbooks from a class may remain unpurchased while another course leaves students without available books. He adds that it takes two days to receive books that are available in Salt Lake City, but generally takes about two weeks for most books to arrive.

Many students are already beginning to feel the bind. Joyce Rigby, of Rigby Idaho, feels that two weeks is too just about a week and a half too long to wait for missing textbooks. "I've got two block plan classes and a test

Leading scientists scheduled to lecture this fall semester

Eight leading scientists will appear on BYU's 1970-71 Seminar Series sponsored by the College of Biological and Agricultural Science.

The first guest lecturer for the year will be Dr. Michael A. Aronson, professor and chairman of the Department of Cell Physiology, University of California at Berkeley, and a biochemist at the California Agricultural Experiment Station. He will speak Oct. 16 on "Solar Radiation and Life: The Role of Photobiology."

Other speakers are Dr. Richard G. Criddle, associate professor of biophysics at the University of California at Davis, who will discuss "Structure and Biosynthesis of Organelle Membranes," Nov. 3.

Dr. Leo P. Vernon, director of research at Brigham Young University, "Structure of the Chloroplast and its Relation to Photosynthesis," Dec. 8.

Dr. Eldon J. Gardner, professor of zoology and dean of the School of Graduate Studies at Utah State University and also dean of the College of Science, "Inheritance Aspects of Cancer in Man," Jan. 5.

Dr. Thomas F. Dougherty, professor and chairman of the Department of Anatomy and Radiobiology Division at the University of Utah School of Medicine, "Inflammatory Response and Its Control," Feb. 2.

Dr. Reznat M. Darnell, professor of oceanography and biology at Texas A & M University, "Biological Decomposition," Mar. 2.

President Harold B. Lee to address fireside Sunday.

First returns in

Twenty-four thousand, four hundred and forty-six. That is the number of students completing registration so far according to Registration Officer Erleid Peterson.

"We're very pleased with the definite improvements shown in the registration system," said Peterson. "But we're not yet satisfied. We hope to go right on improving."

He stated that having students plan their schedules before meeting advisors and requiring their signatures only once had completely eliminated congestion from the First Gym.

"In previous years we spread out and students had to walk more, but there was less congestion and the lines were definitely shorter," said Peterson. "We got out of there earlier than ever."

"Students must realize that computer or no computer, we are limited as to faculty and facilities," he continued. "Some think that there should be a system here everybody gets what they want."

Pres. Lee to speak at fireside Sunday

President Harold B. Lee of the First Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will be the speaker at the first of this year's series of 10-Stack firesides Sunday, Sept. 27, at 7 p.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

The fireside will be the first one and Doctor of Christian Service from BYU.

Since his ordination as an Apostle, President Lee has served the Church as chairman of the Military Relations Committee; as an advisor to the Board of the Relief Society General Board; chairman of the General Melchizedek Priesthood Committee; advisor to the General Music Committee; member of the Executive Committee of the Brigham Young University Board of Trustees.

"The first fireside of the year is always the special 'General Authority Fireside,'" advised President Clyde Sandgren, BYU Vice-President and Stake President of the BYU 2nd Stake, Ootoo-ho-fireside sponsor. "President Lee is a wonderful speaker and we encourage everyone to attend."

President Lee became First Counselor in the First Presidency of The Church on Jan. 23, 1970. He has been a member of the Council of Twelve Apostles since April 6, 1941 and is now the President and ranking senior member of that Council.

After receiving his teacher's certificate, he became principal of an Idaho school at the age of 17. After serving a mission in the Western States, he taught and pursued a study at the University of Utah. Lee became a principal in the Granite School District, Salt Lake City. He resigned in 1928 to go into business and in 1932 he became a Salt Lake City Commissioner. At the same time he was a Stake President in Salt Lake City. In 1937 he resigned from the city commission to become the managing director of the newly organized Church-wide Welfare Program.

President Lee has received three honorary degrees; Doctor of Humanities from the University of Utah and Utah State University, and Student of the Year from the University of Utah.

For student use

Tapes explain library

Five floors of nearly one million volumes does not have to be that formidable. Not any more. Not since the mass media took over explaining the J. Reuben Clark library.

Presently available to freshman, transfer students, and just anyone who's forgotten how to find a magazine, the Audio Tape Tour, the brainchild of the Instructional Development Program, Electronic Media, and the English Department.

The Audio Tape Tour is a cassette tape, complete with recorder and earphone that is checked out to the library investigator. Simple enough to carry in one hand, the Tour gives the student directions around the library, and then tells him about each area.

In less than an hour, an alert listener will understand the intricacies of the card catalogue, the classification of scientific periodicals, the book shelves, how to find a map of Italy, and where the water fountains are ... to mention a few.

According to Marvin Wiggins, Reference Service Librarian, the Audio Tape Tour will be required homework for all freshman English students. Previously, all teachers presented a unit on the library to prepare students for their first term papers.

"But not enough were getting the message," explained Wiggins. "We tried showing slides. It doesn't work. This way, if a student has a question about the library, he can get the answer right away." English instructors can now devote more class time to things besides elaborate interactions about the library.

BYU doesn't intend to limit the educational potential of electronics to library tours. Already in use is the Informational Retrieval System on the third floor, where the Tour may be obtained.

Consisting of individual carrels with dial boxes, a student can "dial" into a channel where a professor has taped supplementary material for the course.

Dean Van Uitert of Electronic Media indicated that the system will be expanded to include video services and will soon be available for classroom use. Residence halls may be next on the list, and in the future a student may be able to dial a supplementary lecture from their private phones.

Rather than depersonalize teaching, Van Uitert indicates that dependence on electronic media can individualize education by removing "things that take up time," such as introductory material, from the classroom. Professors can then "get into the nitty gritty" of the course.

Meanwhile, the English scholars may content themselves with a taped description of the building. Hall took the tour in 45 minutes. But allow for browsing, climbing five flights of stairs to the accompaniment of music.

King Hussein calls for Jordanian cease fire

United Press International King Hussein of Jordan ordered troops in Amman today to halt in the Jordanian civil war. He demanded "absolute and unconditional" withdrawal of the Israeli army of invading army and Palestinian guerrillas have fought a civil war since Thursday.

An Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv said 200 Syrian tanks were moving under cover of an artillery barrage had seized the city of Irbid, 14 miles south of the border, in a move that outflanked the Golan Heights cease-fire line and brought Syrian armor to within 18 miles of Israel.

Hussein's cease-fire apparently applied only to the Amman area where Cairo newspapers said

6,000 persons had been killed in the civil war and where they said the bodies of thousands of persons were strewn in the streets, raising epidemic possibilities.

The situation was worsening by the Pentagon disclosed in Washington it had alerted American armed forces in the United States and Europe for the evacuation of American citizens from Jordan where the corrections needed in rectory

hath no fury like a BYU student whose name or number is inaccurately in the student directory. Now is occasion to be limited to the code of conduct. In fact, a student may be a failing grade in a class or if the student is incorrect, line up. Norman Wright, of Computer Center

is because BYU, at the end of the third week of classes, will have an official class schedule to the student. This computer class schedule will also include deficiencies, and audit information. Wright emphasized that students should check all information, especially to see that they are attending the right one of their classes. Such corrected attendance will result, indeed, in a "B" grade.

If the postman delivers this important letter to the dead-letter box, no such adjustments may be forthcoming, and the social problem of the problem will be solved by failing grades and severed disorder.

Correction tables will be available Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 23-25 on the end of the Jesse Knight Building, the west patio of the Student Center, the south doors of Library, the south doors of

Substitutes play role for injury-plagued Cougars

Injuries will play a major part in the forthcoming pigskin duel with UTEP as five starters for the Cougar football machine are either out or questionable for starting this weekend.

Carl Bowers was injured in the North Texas game and is out for the entire season. Four other regulars have followed Bowers on the injured list which will leave some weak spots to be filled in by eager substitutes.

Offensive tackle Gordon Gravelle and defensive end Jim Faulkner, both injured in the North Texas game, are still question marks for the UTEP game. Sophomore Ray Crandall will handle the defensive right end duties for the injured Faulkner and sophomore Max Page will fill in for Gordon Gravelle.

Unfortunately for the Cougars, two offensive regulars were injured in Saturday's game with Western Michigan. Split end Golden Richards suffered a hip injury, but might be ready to go this weekend. Bill Miller, the starting flankerback, sustained a knee injury in the Michigan game.

Utah Stars acquire Jeff Congdon

By R. C. ROBERG
University Sports Writer

Utah residents will once again have the opportunity to see Jeff Congdon in action this year as the new Brigham Young University star makes his appearance. The Utah scene once again in the colorful red, white and blue uniform of the new Utah Stars professional basketball team.

Congdon, along with another hot prospect, Steve Smith, who is currently trying to land a berth with Stars and in pre-season play has displayed the aggressive and competitive spirit that he had when he was a teammate of Congdon's proved to be a great one-two punch in the Cougars attack.

Many fans were amazed by the lightning quick passes of Congdon, while Nemeth will be remembered for his last second basket against the University of Utah to give BYU a come-from-behind victory, and later dazzling the fans in New York with his performance as BYU behind Congdon, Normand and Craig Raymond defeated New York University, to give BYU its second National Invitational Basketball Title.

Recently the Utah Stars traded Raymond and Bob Warren to Memphis in return for the services of Austin Robbie and Mike Butler. Raymond, a graduate of BYU, averaged 15.4 points and 11.7 rebounds in 46 games with the Stars last winter. In the play-offs he had 17.7 points per game and upped his rebounding to 14.9 caroms per game against one of the toughest teams in the American Basketball Association, the Indiana Pacers.

Congdon, before being acquired by the Stars, was on a future one-and-a-half-year deal and averaged 9.8 points per game in 83 encounters with the Denver

Rockets during regular season play, and then improved his scoring average to 10.5 points per game in 12 ABA post-season play-off contests.

The 6'1" Congdon, although not a big scorer with the Rockets, was counted on heavily as a court general. Last season he finished sixth in the ABA in assists and also was the league's third best percentage shooter from the three-point area (outside 25 feet) hitting 56 of 178 attempts for a 31.4 mark.

Newcomers give Eagles new face

The Salt Lake Golden Eagles of the National Hockey League have acquired two new forwards, Jake Rathwell and Joe Robertson.

Last year they both played for Clinton in the International League. Rathwell scored 56 goals and had 13 assists for 99 points. Robertson had 45 goals and 63 assists for 108 points. They played on the same line at Clinton.

Rathwell, 23, is 5-10 and 183 pounds. Robertson, 22, is a 5-11, 183 pounds.

Buffalo, a new member of the National Hockey League, agreed to let the two play in Salt Lake City this year.

Six other veterans obtained during the off-season are expected to greatly bolster the Eagles offensively and, especially, defensively.

Soviet's lunar probe returns

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union's Luna 16 unmanned lunar probe landed off from the moon's surface, after scooping lunar soil and is on its return home to earth, the official news agency Tass reported.

Tass said "an electric drill of the Luna 16 station took samples of lunar rock that were later placed in a container and hermetized."

"The Soviet space rocket, returning from the moon to the earth, carried samples of the moon rock," it said.

The Soviets did not announce the details of Luna 16's tasks, but a report from the West German space observatory at Bonn said the craft transmitted "excellent" test pictures upon landing.

The craft landed at 8:18 a.m. Sunday marked a Soviet comeback from the failure of Luna 15, which Western space experts said crashed on the moon in July 1, 1969, when Neil Armstrong's Apollo 11 mission to the surface.

Luna 16 also was the first Soviet spacecraft to touch down in the lunar landscape since Luna 13 in December 1968.

The official Tass news agency said Luna's earth controllers coaxed the craft down gently by remote control of its braking engines, which set the silver sputnik down in stages like a jack in reverse.

The agency pinpointed its landing spot in selenographic coordinates at 40 degrees 41 minutes 20 seconds latitude and 56 degrees 18 minutes east longitude, "in the area of the Sea of Fertility."

Luna 16 has started making studies of the moon's surface, it said. There was no indication whether the craft would attempt to scoop samples of moon rock and blast off again for earth. Space sources in Moscow declined to venture a prediction.

when we need to lose weight or something."

Their "sisterhood" the Couglettes partly attribute to their slogan, "GG," which translated is, "Glorify the gospel." They repeat it, they claim, before each performance.

Last February the girls in blue revealed a standing strong in the music room that can snap them into the splits. Black militants disrupted a BYU-Colorado State basketball game during their half-time march. They kept performing.

There are 32 sets of legs on the floor when the Couglettes perform in masse, but only 20 girls are in most matches. That means tryouts within the group for each half-time performance, and 12 girls sit the evening out.

Nancy Williams, a new member, just experienced her first "cut."

"At first," she says, "you feel hopeless. You don't think you'll ever be good enough." But the older members are going to be chosen before you and you're going to have to work to catch up with them."

Meanwhile, there are some vacancies in the march line. Tryouts began with an orientation meeting last night and a workshop today at 4:15 in Ballroom 2. All BYU coeds are welcome.

Dr. Maxwell to speak at dinner

Dr. Neal A. Maxwell, commissioner of the LDS Church Educational System, will be speaker at the annual BYU Faculty dinner Wednesday (Sept. 23) at 7 p.m. in Wilkinson Center on Brigham Young University campus.

The traditional "town-gown" banquet is sponsored jointly by BYU and the Provo Chamber of Commerce to build favorable relationships between the campus and town. Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce office downtown or from any dean on campus.

Brief talks also will be given by BYU President Ernest L.

Wilkinson and Wilson Sorensen, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Entertainment will be under the direction of Charles Henson, who will present groups from BYU who have traveled abroad. A special assignment has been given to Dr. Israel C. Heaton to "mix" the downtown guests with the University associates for "get acquainted" activities.

Rulon Craven is in charge of dinner arrangements. Traditionally awards of the event also will be presented. Plaques have been prepared to be awarded to a downtown business or professional man.

Lon Nol checks war front

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Prince Minister Sihanouk did not fly north today in a borrowed U.S. plane to take a look-and-see look and to brief field commanders on the largest Cambodian military operations of the war which has been bogged down for a week.

At the same time, the Cambodian high command announced the appointment of Brig. Gen. Phan Moeung to replace Brig. Gen. Neak Sam, who had commanded the 4,000-man Cambodian task force since it moved out of Skoun two weeks ago.

Sam was said officially to be suffering from malaria. But military sources said it was obvious. Not wanted to get the stalled operation moving again.

Cambodian reinforcements also headed north in an effort to break the week-long Communist entrapment of 4,000 government

DISTINCTIVE JEANS

From the "News" of 1923 "Distinctive Juniors Jeans" have again made their appearance at BYU. Corduroy trousers on junior boys have become a precedent on campus. When the movement is fully launched, it was a matter of economy, but the expensive sweaters that are being worn with them this year makes it evident that the jersey colored trousers were selected for style and distinctiveness."

ARE YOUR OPINIONS LIMITED TO ONE OR TWO TEXT BOOKS?

WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE ABLE TO READ NOT ONLY
THE TEXT BOOK THAT IS ASSIGNED
FOR A CLASS ---
BUT 10 OR 12 OTHERS
IN THAT FIELD
BESIDES?

Would you like to learn a method of analyzing the text so that you could explain in detail after reading the book exactly what was in it?

Would you like to learn how to accumulate knowledge from these 10 or 12 supplemental texts and relate it all together?

Would you like to be able to recall this information months and years later?

Would you like to be able to do all your reading 3 to 8 times faster than you presently read and with better comprehension?

Would being able to do all this help you gain a better insight into the subject matter of a course and make your education more complete?

IF THE ANSWER IS "YES" TO ANY OF THE ABOVE QUESTIONS
THEN YOU HAVE A NEED WE CAN SATISFY

AT THE READING DYNAMICS INSTITUTE WE CAN HELP YOU DO ALL OF THE THINGS MENTIONED IN THE QUESTIONS ABOVE IN JUST EIGHT WEEKS!

WE HAVE SET UP SOME DEMONSTRATIONS TO SHOW YOU HOW

YOU HAVE A TREMENDOUS AMOUNT TO GAIN BY SEEING WHAT WE HAVE TO OFFER
COME TO A FREE READING DYNAMICS DEMONSTRATION

Money Back Guarantee

We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student by AT LEAST 3 times and will return the entire tuition to any student who, after completing minimum class and study requirements, does not at first increase his reading speed as measured by our beginning and ending tests. Reading efficiency combines rates AND comprehension, not speed alone.

- You will see a Reading Dynamics graduate read at amazing speeds from a book he has never seen before and then tell in detail what he has read.
- You will see a documented film that includes interviews with University professors who have taken the course.
- You will learn how we can help you to foster reading, with improved comprehension and greater recall.

Each demonstration lasts 1 hour and 15 minutes.
